

Title bar across the top with some blogging related image as the background. Maybe it will glow or show some feedback when one of the nav bar buttons are clicked.

Button to display
all the current blog
entries in the main
window.

Button to create a new blog entry

Edit an existing blog entry

Delete blog post(s)

I want to use a stock background image like the one here of a typewriter.

In front of the faded image will be a “Welcome” message at first. Once one of the buttons on the left are clicked, their resulting action on the blog entries is what is displayed. No more “Welcome” message until the page is refreshed.